9 1. Section Title

10 content

11 1.1. Formatting text and sections

12 A complete and accurate reference list is essential. Only works cited in the text should be 13 included. Cite references to published literature in the text in alphabetical order by authors' last 14 names and date as for example Qin (2014), Qin and Gruen (2014) or (Qin 2014; Qin and Gruen 15 2014) depending on sentence construction. If there are more than two authors, they should be cited 16 as (Zhang et al. 2023) or Zhang et al. (2023). Personal communications and unpublished data or 17 reports should not be included in the reference list but should be shown parenthetically in the text 18 (Jones unpublished data 2010). Remember always add doi for the reference if it is missing.

19 All Table and figures should be cited in the manuscript, like Table 1. and Figure 1. All figures 20 and tables must be cited in the text. Authors should note that figures and tables will usually 21 be reduced in size by the printer to optimize use of space and should be designed accordingly.
22 For purposes of peer review figures and tables can be embedded in the manuscript. However, it 23 should be noted that manuscripts once accepted will require that all figures be included as separate 24 files (see instructions for accepted manuscripts) If the manuscript contains copyrighted imagery a 25 copyright statement must be included in the caption (e.g., ©SPOT Image Copyright year] CNES).

26 Authors should express equations as simply as possible. They should include only those equations
27 required by an average reader to understand the technical arguments in the manuscript. Equations 28 must be numbered (1) but unlike tables figures color plates and line drawings should be embedded 29 in the text file.
